

Did You Ever Have To Make Up Your Mind

Lovin' Spoonful

Did you [C] ever have to [F] make up your [C] mind [F]
And [C] pick up on [F] one and leave the [C] other be-[A7] -hind
It's [C] not often [G] easy and [F] not often kind
Did you [G] ever have to make up your [C] mind

Did you [C] ever have to [F] finally de-[C]-cide [F]
And [C] say yes to [F] one and let the [C] other one [A7] ride
There's [C] so many [G] changes and [F] tears you must hide
Did you [G] ever have to finally de-[C]-cide

Sometimes there's [A7] one with big blue eyes, cute as a bunny
With [D7] hair down to here, and plenty of money
And [F] just when you [D7] think she's that [C] one in the [A7] world
You [G !] heart gets [Gsus4 !] stolen by some [G !] mousey little [Gsus4 !] girl

And then you [C] know you better [F] make up your [C] mind [F]
And [C] pick up on [F] one and leave the [C] other be-[A7]-hind
It's [C] not often [G] easy and [F] not often kind
Did you [G] ever have to make up your [C] mind

Sometimes you [A7] really dig a girl, the moment you've kissed her
And [D7] then you get distracted by her older sister
When [F] in walks her [D7] father and [C] takes you in [A7] line
And says, "[G !] Better go home, son, and [G !] make up your mind"

Then you [C] bet you'd better [F] finally de-[C]-cide [F]
And [C] say, "Yes" to [F] one and let the [C] other one [A7] ride
There's [C] so many [G] changes and [F] tears you must hide
Did you [G] ever have to finally de-[C]-cide [G] [C]