My name's Eddie, I am a worn man now

D Em
But I know where I was that day

Em G D
Hiding from the foreman at the base of the tower when I saw the mighty
Em
bridge give way

Em G D Em
Bolts started snapping on the western span They sounded like machine gun fire

Em G D Em
You should have heard when she came down The wind blew me over the wire

G D
And a cold wind blows

Am C
Down by the river where nobody goes

G D C Am ! Em
Hell broke free when the bridge came down When the bridge came down

Em G
We overhead the engineers

D Em
Talking about the master plans

Em G D Em
Something about rust and a difference in camber And buckles in the western span

Em G
We went back on the job that day

Well they swore blue murder she would never come down I got away with six broken ribs

I am the luckiest man a- -round

And the cold wind blows

Down by the river where nobody goes

Hell broke free when the bridge came down When the bridge came down

Do do do do do do do do do do do Do do do do do do do do do do do

When you go to work each day

You think you are going to come back a--live You kiss your wife and your kids goodbye When you know your going to play to sur- -vive

Sometimes I lay a- -wake at night

And think about the ones who died

The riggers and the chippies and the boilermakers The boys who had nowhere to hide

I think about how proud we were

And how we got a bad job done

You've got to trust who you're working with When the steel starts to buckle in the sun

And the cold wind blows

Down by the river where nobody goes

Hell broke free when the bridge came down And the cold wind blows

Am C
Down by the river where nobody goes

G D C
Hell broke free when the bridge came down

Am ! Em
When the bridge came down
